September Meeting: Thursday Sept. 19th, 2013
Meeting starts at 7 PM

Welcome back! Hopefully you have all had a enjoyable and successful summer of fishing. The club board has already met this past summer and started to plan events for the coming year. We have tried to invite speakers from diverse backgrounds to speak on a wide range of topics include rod building, western trout fishing, saltwater fly fishing and fly tying. In addition, there are several club trips and classes are planned for a great year.

Fishing Quote of the Month

“Fishing is much more than fish...It is a great occasion when we may return to the fine simplicity of our forefathers”

Herbert Hoover.

September Presenter:

Jim Downes

Bamboo Rod building.

Jim Downes from the Feathered Hook in Coburn, Pa. will present an evening talking about the art of building and choosing a bamboo fly rod. Jim of the L. J. Downes Rod company has been building bamboo Rods professionally for more than 15 years. He is well known for the outstanding workmanship and attention to detail in all the rods he makes. These rods are not just objects are beauty, they are designed to be effective fishing tools.

Jim has developed his own unique tapers for his rods. Today in addition to crafting fine bamboo rods he teaches classes on bamboo rod making.

Fall Classes and Events

Trips

Two trips have been planned for this fall. Electronic sign up sheets are listed on the club website.

Lake Day Sat. Oct. 19th. The fish commission stocks a number of the smaller lakes/ponds across the state with rainbow trout in the fall. When the weather is right, the fish often rise for midges, caddis and terrestrials during October. This can be exciting fishing in beautiful fall surroundings. This years trip is to Tuscarora Lake, Barnesville, Pa.

Cast and Blast Sat. Nov. 2nd. Hunt grouse in the morning and fish for trout in the warm afternoon. What would be better.

Fall Classes.

The club sponsors classes at several area schools and/or centers in the both the fall and spring. There are classes on fly tying for both novice and advanced tyers and fishing strategy classes. A complete list of classes is now on the club website under "classes". Below are the fall classes.
