1st Annual MLFT Film Festival

This month we will be featuring a newly released video from Orvis. (Thanks to our local Orvis store). “Down the Hatch” promises to be both instructional and exciting. These videos usually have very high quality photography and feature excellent fly fishers. It promises to be a very enjoyable evening.

Price of Admission. ½ to 1 dozen flies

Seriously. We need flies for the upcoming Oaks Sportsman show next week. Ty-em or buy -em, but bring them to the meeting to donate to the club!

Last Month

Gary Borger " The tricks for finding and taking big trout"

Last month Gary Borger gave a very informative and exciting presentation on fishing for larger trout. He discussed the trout's visual window for objects floating on the surface and how the trout can see dangerous predators (fisherman) under different conditions. It was a first rate presentation.

Early season stocking

No need to wait for April for the opening of the season. There is excellent fishing in March in the catch and release and delayed harvest streams. The Fish Commission is stocking several area delayed-harvest streams early this year. French Creek and West Valley creek will be stocked in late February and the Little Lehigh at the start of March. All of those streams are usually in excellent shape early in the season. Check the Fish commission web site for the stocking of other streams in the area.

March fishing is not all fishing with heavy split shot. There are good hatches in March, if the conditions are right (and you are lucky). Most area streams have good numbers of early black/brown stoneflies. The Little Lehigh has a good hatch of BWO's in the second half of March and midges are everywhere.
